TriviaQA-150 -- gold-answer (higher better)

Bottom-left panel uses gold-answer match as the correctness axis (higher = better); unsup_f is metric-degenerate on TriviaQA (Hyphae 0.000 by quotient).

The decisive feature of every panel: the echo baseline is co-located with Hyphae at the favourable corner (and dominates it on the own-corpus unsup_f panel). The metric-space frontier does NOT separate the architecture from a verbatim print(). The distinguishing property -- tamper-evident provenance (Table 3) -- is not an axis any of these panels can plot.
